Rapid City CPA and Financial Advising Firm Relieves Tax Season Stress

01.21.08

The 2007 tax season is in full swing for Rapid City's full service CPA and financial advising firm, Casey Peterson & Associates, LTD. Built upon a solid foundation of experience and knowledge, they are the foremost certified public accountants in the Black Hills area.

According to this Rapid City CPA, this year's tax season has brought with it an extension of the Tax Increase Prevention Act, which is good news to many Rapid City area residents. The purpose of this Act is to continue relief of the Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT), and prevent over taxation of middle-income households.

The AMT was originally created in 1969 to ensure that those with the highest-incomes could not avoid paying any federal income tax, however, AMT parameters are not indexed for inflation, and they have therefore targeted more middle-income taxpayers over time.

The certified public accountants at this Rapid City firm are well informed of, and very familiar with, the most current tax laws. Casey Peterson and Associates, LTD. maintains a competent approach to tax laws, and provides the solid financial advice necessary to relieve tax season stress to those residents in Rapid City and Black Hills area.
